

Soka Gakkai International – USA
Culture of Peace - Distinguished Speaker Series

presents

People on a Warming Planet

How is global climate change affecting us? Does it affect some more than others? What can ordinary people do? What should we ask our institutions to do? Is there a creative way to respond to a warming planet?

Join us for an evening of learning and dialogue with Dr. Habiba Gitay, one of the world's leading experts and activists on the issue of climate change, both as a Professor of Ecology at Australia National University and as Senior Environmental Specialist at the World Bank Institute.

You have a role here.

Tuesday, June 2, 2009, 7:30 PM

SGI-USA Buddhist Culture Center
3417 Massachusetts Avenue, NW
Washington DC

www.sgi-usa-washingtondc.org

Free and open to the public

The Distinguished Speaker Series is presented by the Soka Gakkai International – USA Buddhist Association as part of its ongoing commitment to the UN-sponsored International Decade for a Culture of Peace and Non-Violence for the Children of the World. For more information, call 202-338-5491 or send an email to cultureofpeace.dc@gmail.com